Just think...

...of the support you will get

Staff within The National Student Support Centre are on hand to assist with the application process, SRA enrolment and to advise on payment options available.

On starting the course you will meet your Supervising Principal (SP), who will give you the support a senior lawyer gives to a trainee solicitor in practice. You will meet on a regular and confidential basis to discuss your progress.

All LPC tutors operate an 'open door' policy and will be happy to provide support and feedback to you.

Just think...

...about the careers advice you'll receive

Support will be available from a number of sources. Your SP will help you to apply for training contracts, with the support of specialist LPC tutors who can help with applications aimed at specific sectors of the legal market.

You will also receive assistance with interview skills and support in preparing innovative CVs, application forms and covering letters.

Just think...

...a part-time, weekend-study LPC that offers you more, but costs you less

If you are looking for an LPC provider that offers you top-rated training but keeps its costs low, and therefore its fees, think about NCLT, the National College of Legal Training.

NCLT is backed by the University of the West of England and CLT, the leading trainer for lawyers. So you can be confident that law firms recognise the value of our courses.

Our part-time LPC allows you to study flexibly. The use of Saturday and Sunday workshops, supported by e-learning, is designed for students who want to learn whilst they earn. We also pride ourselves on offering an excellent student experience, listening to your needs.

What's more, our aim is to be accessible to all, both geographically and financially. So the course costs just £6,400 (£3,200 per year), with flexible payment options, and we have regional university study centres in London, Manchester, Southampton, Coventry, Sunderland* and Derby.*

A convenient, high quality, affordable LPC, from a respected college that really looks after you – now there's a thought.

*Subject to SRA validation.
